

Fred Strobel

Managing Director,
Global Head of Human Resources

Fred Strobel is Managing Director, Global Head of Human Resources at Tradeweb Markets, and a member of the Executive Committee. In his role, he leads the efforts on building and developing the strategies and programs to recruit, retain and develop the best talent for the company. His team focuses on all aspects of HR—including talent and succession planning, learning and development, compensation design and administration, benefits and organizational strategy.

Prior to joining Tradeweb in 2015, Mr. Strobel had over 20 years of human resources leadership experience at Morgan Stanley and State Farm Insurance, both in the New York area.

An active mentor and coach to many, he has dedicated himself to helping others as they grow and navigate their lives and careers. Mr. Strobel is on the Board of Directors for Tuesday's Children, a non-profit that provides long-term healing originally for 9/11 family members and now focuses on military families of the fallen. In 2022, he joined the Board of Directors for StreetWise Partners—an organization that provides mentorship and career opportunities for those in overlooked and under-resourced communities. Through Mr. Strobel, Tradeweb has built a strong, successful relationship with StreetWise.

He has a B.S. from St. John's University and a Master's in Organizational Management from the University of Phoenix.